Bachelor of Arts

Developmental Psychology

Student Learning Outcomes

Student Learning Outcome 1:

Demonstrate familiarity with major concepts in developmental psychology. Specifically, learn about the essential aspects of development in the following areas: cognitive, physical/biological, emotional, and social.

Student Learning Outcome 2:

Apply developmental theory and knowledge of science of human development to students' lives, in the career or professional settings.

Student Learning Outcome 3:

Interview or review others regarding their views on developmental psychology, and analyze these views as they relate existing research

Submitted to the University Assessment Team on